

MYSTERY

A man is pushing his car down the streets and stops in front of a hotel. Having done so, he realizes that he is bankrupt (he owes more than he could possibly pay, even if he sold everything he had).

- What is going on?

The man is playing the board game Monopoly and landed on a property owned by someone else who had a hotel on it.